THE OUTER GARMENT SHOP
608 TO 614 ELEVENTH STREET

The aim of this establishment—

To present the most exclusive fashions of the distinguished style-originators of Paris, while these modes are the vogue abroad.

Also, to create styles which have for their motif the Paris modes of the moment, but are better adapted to the more conservative ideas of many American women.

The result is most gratifying to women of fastidious tastes—They find in this store an unapproached selection of the very things that the smart Parisienne is wearing this season, together with equally charming modifications of those ultra-fashionable modes—

And all at sensible prices!

There is much that is interesting and can be found in no other store in Washington in our comprehensive displays of Fall and Winter Fashions in—

Tailormade Suits, Gowns, Dresses, Coats, Wraps, Blouses, Millinery and Furs.

We invite the most critical inspection of our new models, as well as the broadest possible comparison of our values.

MOBILE EPIDEMIC

Busy Season for Lynchers and Would-Be Lynchers.

SOME SUCCEEDED; SOME FAIL

In One Case Girl's Plea Saved Assailant From Vengeance.

JURIES FAIL TO CONVICT

Men Charged With Lynchings in Pennsylvania and South Carolina Are Set Free.

NEW YORK, October 12.—A posse of 200 men, led by a squad of police and a detachment of United States soldiers from Fort Hamilton, scoured the woods in the vicinity of Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, early today in search of a man who last night attacked Miss Agnes Waugh in a field near her home, and after a fearful struggle left her badly injured.

Twenty policemen led the search, which lasted all through the night, and was continued after dawn. Police dogs were also employed, but no clue of value had been discovered up to an early hour today.

Miss Waugh, who is in a semi-conscious condition in the Norwegian Hospital in Brooklyn, described her assailant as a foreigner of medium height, but prodigious strength. She believes that she disfigured him so badly by scratching him about the face and hands that he can be easily identified when seen. The girl's injuries include a fractured skull and more than a hundred bruises and contusions.

Mob Scours Countryside.

SHREVEPORT, La., October 12.—An armed posse of more than 100 men, including several members of the police and sheriff's force, are hunting the countryside for the negro assailant of Miss Florence Ashford, aged twenty, a pretty telephone operator, who was found choked almost into insensibility in a vacant lot near her home late yesterday.

Saved by Girl's Plea.

COATESVILLE, Pa., October 12.—The vigorous protest against mob violence made by Miss Amy McElhaney saved her alleged negro assailant, Thomas Harmon, from probable lynching at the hands of an angry mob of 700 men who threatened to storm the court house here yesterday.

After the seventeen-year-old girl had identified Harmon, and while the preliminary hearing was on before District Attorney Robert S. Shaw, the mob began to press toward the doors of the county building. There were violent mutterings and vehement demands that a fate that awaited Harmon when Miss McElhaney walked out to face the angry villagers.

Behind the address delivered by the girl to a mob bordering on infuriation lies a story of pleadings for hours by District Attorney Gawronski, who had demanded of the district attorney quick justice—the kind accorded horse thieves in the old frontier days.

Pleaded With Father.

Miss McElhaney enlisted immediately in the cause of the district attorney and explained to her father how the lives of numbers of Coatesville's residents would be jeopardized should they be goaded on to taking the life of the negro in the manner contemplated.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., October 12.—At the moment that Miss Annie McElhaney was pleading with a mob at Coatesville not to lynch her negro assailant, a jury in the Chester county court house here was acquitting William Gilbert and Albert Berry of a charge of murder in connection with the burning August 13 at Coatesville of Zack Walker.

Drives Off Assailants.

BUTLER, Pa., October 12.—A posse was organized here last night to hunt two negroes who attacked Mrs. Thomas Watson, a bride of twenty-five, in the home of her husband, a farmer, early yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Watson was able to ward off the negroes when they attacked her. She snatched up a double-barreled shotgun. The contents of one barrel were discharged into the thigh of one negro, who limped away howling. Seeing his companion wounded the other black man tried to escape. Mrs. Watson fired over his head as he disappeared around a corner of the house.

May Have Been Innocent.

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., October 12.—An infuriated mob that battered down the doors of the city jail here dragged forth two negroes—A. B. Richardson and Ben Woods—and lynched them in the public square.

The negroes pleaded pitifully, declaring they were innocent of having attacked white girls. Disregarding the protests of the sheriff, who said a mistake might have been made in the arrest of the men, both negroes were strung up.

Lynchers Go Free.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., October 12.—“Met death at the hands of parties unknown” is the substance of a verdict rendered by a coroner's jury that investigated the lynching of Willis Jackson.

This decision was rendered in the face of Sheriff J. P. Poole's startling assertion that Joshua Ashley, member of the legislature and mentioned for Congress, led the mob that took Jackson from the sheriff's guards.

Sheriff Poole said that he and his men were pursued in automobiles for seventy miles Monday night by the mob which declared Jackson to be the assailant of a white girl and promptly lynched him.

Gov. Blease took no action to prevent the lynching, though at the coroner's investigation it was stated he had ample time to do so. In following this course Gov. Blease has adhered to his announced determination not to call out the militia to save from mob violence a negro guilty of attacking a white woman.

When Jackson's body was cut down today it was found that his fingers and toes had been cut off as souvenirs.

MARK PASTOR'S BIRTHDAY.

Reopening of Remodeled Gymnasium at Peck Memorial Chapel.

The opening of the remodeled gymnasium of Peck Memorial Chapel in Georgetown last night celebrated the birthday of its pastor, Rev. H. B. Angus. Many members of the congregation and friends of the chapel gathered for the housewarming, and there was a program of speaking and music.

Henry B. F. Macfarland, former District Commissioner, spoke of the gymnasium as the realization of a dream of the pastor, and Mr. Angus responded that the opening marked the most delightful birthday he had ever had. Congratulations were voiced by Judge Stanton, J. Peelle of the Court of Claims, W. B. Bryan, Rev. F. H. Howden, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Georgetown, and Mrs. Charles Alvin Smith, deaconess of the chapel. Rev. Bernard Braskamp, assistant pastor of the Church of the Covenant, pronounced the benediction.

The gym is to be open for ladies every Monday evening and for men and boys the remaining week day evenings. The work of remodeling has been in progress for several months.

NEWS OF ROCKVILLE AND THE COUNTY

Marriage of Miss Bessie N. Brookes and J. H. Starkey

Death of Mrs. Dalbey.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

ROCKVILLE, Md., October 12, 1911.

At 7 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents, near Redland, Miss Bessie Nourse Brookes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Brookes, and James H. Starkey, a young civil engineer, with headquarters at Rockville, were married by Rev. James Nourse of Washington, a relative of the bride.

The wedding and the reception which followed were attended by about a hundred guests from various parts of the county, Washington, Baltimore and other places. The home was attractively decorated with cut flowers, potted plants, autumn leaves and evergreens. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Nellie B. Brookes, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Misses Dorothy Hel-berger of Washington and Amy R. Stevenson of Baltimore. Lowmes Bennett of Howard county was best man and the ushers were Thomas Perry, Hinton Canby and Walter Perry of Kensington and Bernard H. Werfield of Howard county. Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. Starkey left on a trip.

Mrs. Eliza Dalbey, wife of Prof. Albert Dalbey of Rockville, died at an early hour yesterday morning, aged sixty-two years. Her death was due to meningitis, with which she was stricken several days ago. She was survived by her husband, but left no children. Mrs. Dalbey was a native of Frederick county and for many years was postmistress at Boonsboro.

She was before her marriage a Miss Beard. Upon her marriage, twenty-five years ago, she moved to Rockville. The body tomorrow morning will be taken to Boonsboro for burial.

An enthusiastic and largely attended meeting in the interest of woman suffrage was held at Sandy Spring Monday under the auspices of the Woman Suffrage Association of Montgomery county. It was presided over by Miss Rebecca T. Miller of Ashton and addressed by Mrs. Charles E. Elliott and Misses Mary E. Levy and Lola C. Trax of Baltimore. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Samuel Wilson and Wilson Gant, young negroes, are in jail at this place awaiting trial on a charge of grand larceny, perpetrated by Spurrer & Redick of Boonsboro. It is charged that the negroes stole two watches and a number of other articles from the store of the complainant a few days ago. The goods were recovered.
